THE COINAGE OF SWEDEN, 992-
1522 A D.

Although the medieval coins of Sweden are small and those of certain periods rude in fabric, they are still of no little interest to every one who has some knowledge of the history of that country. To give the reader historical accounts about the different series of coins and bracteates struck in Sweden before 1522, the limited space allotted me in this journal will not permit, but I will here present a chronological table of all the Swedish kings under a period of 500 years and describe a few of the coins issued by them.

In the 10th and 11th centuries SIGRUNA in the province of Upland was the most important of all the Swedish commercial cities, and there the first Swedish coins were struck by

OLOF SKOTKONUNG, the first Christian king of Sweden 992-1022. Both the design and the execution of the coins issued by him and his son Anund James are far better than could be expected, being of even better workmanship and artistic taste than all the Swedish coins struck in the following three centuries. Obverse: Bust, head to right; sceptre; legend,

OLAF REX SWERO rum (Olof, King of the Swedes.) Reverse, A cross, with the word CRUX inscribed in the four fields, one letter in each; legend, GODWINE MO netarins SITH un (Godwine moneyer in Sigtuna) size, 14 1-2; different varieties with different legends.

ANUND JAMES 1022-1050. On some of the coins struck by this king the Swedish coat of arms (three crowns and a lion over three rivers) appears for the first time. The statement of C. G. Williams, that the arms of the country were not introduced on any coins in Europe before the 12th century is consequently erroneous, as well as another statement by W. W. Brown that the three crowns on the Swedish coat of arms signify the union between Sweden, Norway and Denmark, a union that was not established before 1397.

The coins issued by Anund James were of different sizes (9-13 1-2) and appearance. 1. Obverse, Bust with helmet; legend: ANUND REX IN (Suecia). Reverse: A cross legend: ULON IN SITUN. 2. Obverse, The letter A in a triangle of three crowns (the arms of Swethiod or the kingdom of Svea)

Reverse: A crowned lion over three rivers, (the arms of Gauthiod or the kingdom of Gotha, which together with the kingdom of Svea and the provinces of Norrland now constitute the kingdom of Sweden).

Few coins were struck by Olof and Anund James, and the pieces preserved in collections are considered very rare.

EMUND THE OLD (1050-1060)

STENHIL (1060-1066)

HAKAN THE RED (1080)

HALSTEN AND INGE SENIOR (1080-1111)

These kings issued small silver coins (size 6 1-2-12), which have usually on the obverse the first letter of the king's name surrounded by three crowns, or a crowned head with legend. (seldom full). Reverse: A cross or the lion of Gotha. The relief of the coins is inconsiderable, the pieces thin and during all these reigns the art poor; but some of the coins are rare.

PHILIP (-1118) and INGE (-1125)

ERIC ARSALL, pretender.

RAGNVALD KNAPHOFDE (-1130).

SVERKER SENIOR (1130-1155).

ERIC IX the patron saint of Sweden, (1159-1160).

MAGNUS HENRIKSSON (1160-1161).

CHARLES VII (1165-1167).

CANUTE (Eriksson) (1167-1195).

SVERKER JUNIOR (1195-1208).

ERIC X (1208-1216).

JOHN I (1216-1222).

ERIC XI (1222-1250).

VALDEMAR (1250-1275).

BIRGER YARL, regent (1250-1266).

MAGNUS LADULAS (1275-1290).

BIRGER (1290-1318).

TORKIL KMITSSON, regent (1290-1298).

MAGNUS SNEK (1319-1365).

ERIC XII-1357-1359—and HAKAN-1362-1371. The coins issued by these kings are in every respect superior to the series already mentioned. The greatest numismatic feature of Eric and Hakan's reign is the issue of Ortugar [plural of Ortug]. The Mark, which was the monetary unit of Sweden, was divided in 8 Ore, 1 Ore in 3 Ortugar, 1 Ortug in 2 half Ortugar or 8 Penningar [1 Mark=8 Ore=24 Ortugar=192 Penningar]. Between one Mark silver and one Mark Penningar [coins] there was already a difference. The former was to the latter as 1:6, consequently 6 Marks, or 48 Ore, or 144 Ortugar were struck of one Mark [pound] silver. The nominal value of one Mark silver was [1365] about 30 Swedish crowns, but the real value about 350 crowns.

King Eric's Ortug: Obverse, A shield with three crowns; legend ERICUS REX SWECIE. Reverse: A crowned A; legend: MONETA ABOENSIS; size 12 3-4; very rare.

King Hakan's coin: Obverse: A crowned head; legend: HARWIN us DUX NORWEGIE. Reverse: A cross with one rose in each field; legend, MONETA EASLOIA; size 14 1-2; rare.

ALBERT OF ALBREKT—1365-1389. Under the reign of this king Ortugar were struck in the cities of Stockholm and Kalmar. Stockholm's Ortug: Obverse, A crowned head; legend, ALBERTUS REX. Reverse, A cross with only 3 arms, resembling a J, 3 crowns; legend: MONETA SWECIE; size 12 1-2. Kalmar Ortug: Obverse, A crowned E; legend; ALBERTUS DEI GRACIA. Reverse: A cross, 3 crowns; legend, MONETA KALM; size 12.

MARGARETA—1389-1412. Obverse: A crowned head [of the queen?] Reverse, The letter O for Orebro, the place of mintage; size 9.

ERIC XIII.—1396-1439, dethroned by the Swedes under Engelbrekt 1435. Ortugar were struck by him in the cities of Stockholm, Westeras, Orebro [?] and Abo in Finland. Stockholm's Ortug: Obverse, A crowned head; legend, ERICUS REX. Reverse, The letter E in the middle of a large cross; legend: MONETA STOCKHOLMENSIS; size 12. One Ortug with following legend on the obverse: ERICUS REX Sveciae Daniae Norvegiae; exceedingly rare. Westeras Ortug: Obverse: A shield with three crowns; legend: ERICUS REX D. S. N. Reverse, A crowned A between two roses; legend: MONETA AROSIE nsis Civitatis; size 12. Orebro Ortug: Obverse, A large crown; legend, ERICUS D GRA REX D. S. N. Reverse: The letter E in the middle of a large cross; legend: MONETA CASTRI ORE; very rare. Abo Ortug: Obverse: A crown in the middle of a large cross; legend, ERICUS REX D. S. N. Reverse: The letter A between three small rings; legend, MONETA ABOENS; size 10.

Eric XIII used base metal in his coins. With every year baser and baser alloy was used, and the difference between one Mark Silver and one Mark Penningar increased. The former was (1365) to the latter as 1 to 6, but under Eric's reign as 1 to 20.

ENGELBRCKT ENGELBREKSSON, liberator of Sweden and defender of its liberty. (1435—1436). No coins struck by this "noble king without crown."

CHARLES (afterwards VIII) KNUTSSON, regent (Swed. ricksforestandare, lat. administrator regni) 1436-1440. No coins known to have been struck by him at this time.

CHRISTOPHER 1440-1448 struck Ortugar in the cities of Stockholm, Abo and Malmo. Stockholm's Ortug: Obverse, A shield with 3 crowns; legend KRISTOFER REX S. Reverse, The letter K with one ring on each side; legend, MONETA Stocko. Size 12, rare. Abo Ortug: Obverse, A shield with 3 crowns, legend KRISTOFER REX S. Reverse, The letter K and near the same 3 rings and a crowned A [upside down]; legend MONETA ABO-ENSI; rare. Malmo Ortug: Obverse, A crowned K; legend, CRISTOF REX Daniae Suedae Norvegiae. Reverse: A large crown on a shield; legend, MON MALMOIENS.—1 Mark silver: mark penningar as 1:9.

BENGT and NILS OXENSTJERNA, regents 1448. No coins struck by them.

CHARLES VIII [king for the first time 1448-1457] struck Ortugar in Stockholm, Soderkoping (?) and Abo. Stockholm's Ortug: A shield with three crowns; legend, KAROLUS REX. Reverse, The letter K in a cross formed by 4 rings; legend, MONETA STOCKOL; size 12 1-2. Soderkoping Ortug: Obverse, The arms of the family Bonde [a boat] and letter S; legend KAROLUS REX SVE. Reverse, A shield with 3 crowns on a cross, MONETA SVECHIE [retrograde.] Abo Ortug, Obverse as the preceding, but a crowned A between 2 stars over the boat; legend, KAROLUS REX Sueonum Gothorum. Reverse as the preceding, but the legend, MONETA ABOENS.—1 Mark silver: 1 Mark Penningar (coins) as 1:8.

JONS BENGTTSSON and ERIC AXELSON, regents 1448. No coins struck by them.

CHRISTIAN (1457-1464) Obverse the letter K; legend, CRISSTERNNE REX (2e turned wrong) Reverse, A shield with 3 crowns; legend, MONETA STOCKHOLM. 1 Mark silver: 1 Mark Penningar as 1:8.

KETIL VASA, regent 1464. No coins struck by him.

CHARLES VIII [for the second time king 1464-1465].

KETIL VASA, regent 1465.

JONS BENGTTSSON " 1465-66.

ERIC ANELSSON " 1466—67 No coins struck by them.

CHARLES VIII for the third time king 1467—1470.

STEN STURE SENIOR, regent 1470—1497 Ortug struck in Stockholm: Obverse, A head of the patron saint; legend SCS ERICUS REX. Reverse SVEA shield with three crowns, and the letter S; legend MONETA STOCK 1478. This is the first Swedish coin with date. Half Ortug struck in Stockholm; Obverse, The Head of the patron saint; legend SCS ERICUS REX. Reverse, A crown, legend MONETA STOCHO 78 [1478]. Ortug struck in Westeras Obverse, A shield with 3 crowns; legend, SCS ERICUS REX. Reverse, crowned A between 2 roses, legend, MONETA AROSIS. Half Ortug struck in Westeras; Obverse, A crown; legend SCS ERICUS REX. Reverse, The letter A; legend, MONETA AROSI. Ortug, struck in Abo. Obverse, A shield with 3 crowns; legend SCS HEINRICHIUS EB. Reverse, A crowned A between 2 stars; legend MONETA ABOENSIS Exceedingly rare.

JOHN II [1497—1501]. Stockholm's Ortug: Obverse, The arms of the king; legend JOH DEI G REX SWE. Reverse, Shield with 3 crowns; legend MONETA STOCK. Very rare.

Stockholms Half Ortug; Obverse, The arms of the king, legend JOH D. G. REX SW. Reverse, Shield with 3 crowns; legend, MONETA STOCHO. Westeras Ortug; Svea shield and over the same the arms of the king; legend JOH DEI G. REX SWE Reverse, A crowned A; legend MONETA AROSIENS — Westeras half Ortug; Obverse, The arms of the king, a cross; legend, JOH D. G. REX SW. Reverse. The letter A., legend MONETA AROSI.

STEN STURE SENIOR, regent for the second time 1501—1503.

SVANTE STURE [regent 1504—1512]. Westeras Ortug; Obverse Swedish shield and over the same the arms of the regent; legend SCS ERICUS REX. Reverse, A crowned A, legend, MONETA AROSIENS. Very rare. Westeras half Ortug; Obverse, A crown, legend, SCS ERICUS REX Reverse, the letter A and the arms of the family Sture; legend, MONETA AROSIS. Large coin; Obverse, the patron saint of Sweden; legend, S ERICUS REX SWECIE. Reverse, the arms of Sweden on a large cross; legend, MONE STOCKHOLM 1504. Size about 21. Exceedingly rare.

STEN STURE JUNIOR—regent 1512—1520—Stockholm's Ortug: Obverse, the arms of Svea; legend, STEEN STURE RITTER. Reverse, a crowned S between two stars; legend, MONETA STOCKHOLM, 1512. Stockholm's half Ortug; Obverse, a crown; legend, STEN STURE RITTER 1515. Reverse, the letter S; legend, MONETA NOVA STOCKOL. Westeras half Ortug; Obverse, A crown; legend, STEN STURE RIT. Reverse, the letter A; legend, MONETA NO ARO; very rare. Large coin or medaillon; Obverse, The crowned patron saint of Sweden in armor from head to foot, sword in the right hand, globe in the left; legend, S. ERICUS REX SWECIE. Reverse, A crowned shield with three crowns on a cross; legend, MONE STOCKHOLM, 1512. Very rare.

CHRISTIAN II., the tyrant—1520—1521—dethroned by the Swedes under Gustavus Vasa in the year last mentioned. This king did not issue any coins in Sweden. His Danish Riksdaler bears on the obverse the king with crown, sceptre and globe on a throne; legend, CRISTIERNUS DEI GRA REX DACIE SWECIE NORVE. Reverse, the coat of arms of Denmark, in which three Swedish crowns are inserted; legend, XPS HIS ELEGIT ME REGEM POPULO SUO 1523. "Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people."

With the reign of Gustavus Vasa, Sweden's Washington, the successor to Christianus II., new, beautiful and very interesting series of Swedish coins were issued.

ADVERTISEMENTS, LIMITED TO 3 LINES, 25c. each insertion.

THE GUZMAN MEDALS.

No. 1. Obverse, Striking male figure, in military uniform, standing upon a rock; at his feet are broken chains; the right hand grasps an unfolded flag; the left arm extended; above, in curving line, SERVITUTIS ABROGATIO; near the base, engraved on the rock, W. H. KEY F. PHILA. Reverse, On massive pedestal the equestrian statue of Guzman Blanco, in military uniform, and chapeau in right hand; above, in curving line, SIMON BOLIVAR LIBERATORI; below, in one straight, and one curving lines, GUZMAN BLANCO CARACAS MDCCCLXXIV; size 32; silver bronze, and white metal.

No. 2. Obverse, Within a beaded circle, a male figure, (Guzman) in full military uniform and with head bare, stands upon a checkered floor; the right hand rests upon the volumes of Science; the left grasps the guard of the sword; on the right, on the floor, a globe; suspended, a map of South America; near the edge, on a broad unpolished band, GRATOE PATRIAE MONUMENTUM INSTRUCTIONIS PROPAGATOR. Reverse, Within a beaded circle, Guzman, in military uniform, and on horseback, to left; on unpolished surface near the edge, similar to that on obverse, AMERICANO ILLUSTRIS ANTONIO GUZMAN BLANCO CARACAS MDCCCLXXV, and on base, W. H. KEY F. PHILA.

No. 3. Obverse, Temple of Fame, with three principal, and four accessory allegoric figures; above, in curving line, PANTEON NACIONAL EN CARACAS; below, VENEZUELA; also, W. H. KEY F. Reverse, Monument in Gothic style of architecture, thrice ornamented with the arms of Venezuela; in two straight, and two curving lines, GLORIAS DE GUZMAN BLANCO URNA CINERARIA DEL LIBERTADOR MDCCCLXXVI.

Antonio Guzman Blanco the illustrious American Regenerator of Venezuela, in whose honor the above medals have very lately been struck, was for many years President and Dictator of the Republic of Venezuela; at the present time, however, he is traveling in Europe, as the accredited representative of the Republic to all the European powers.

A distinguished Cuban exile and brother numismatist, himself a keen and accurate psychologist, kindly furnishes us with the following peculiarities of character of this remarkable man: "Guzman is a fine looking man, and so proud of his person that he patronizes and befriends any man who celebrates his physique in newspapers, while he is so vain and punctilious that he has sent to prison many persons for not calling him by his titles, or not saluting him humbly. By his orders his statue (rev. no. 1) after having been exhibited at Philadelphia, was erected in the public square of Caracas. Guzman is a man of very low morals, and unprincipled, but he is clever, talented, and brave, and although a tyrant, he has given peace to Venezuela, developed its resources, and labored much for the education of the people. He is not cruel, or better, he is not bloodthirsty, yet he has exiled the best men from the country, threatening to have them shot if they returned, and in many cases has been true to his word."

COIN SALES.

We are not informed of any coin sales having taken place during the past months of July and August.

COMING SALES.

On the 5th and 6th inst. at Philadelphia, by J. W. Hazeltine; Continental and Confederate paper money, old almanacs, autographs, documents, and engravings of American celebrities.

On the 17th and 18th inst., at New York, catalogue by Ed. Cogan, the modern coins of the cabinet of a well known New York collector will be offered at public sale. The collection comprises a large and varied number of American, English, French, and Canadian coins, an assortment of siege Pieces, many foreign silver coins, all in the finest possible condition. We regret that a scarcity of catalogues will prevent our supplying many of our correspondents with the same.

At New York, beginning probably on the 7th of October, Mr. S. K. Harzfeld will offer a fine selection of coins and medals, including very rare early American medals and coins.

In relation to this sale Mr. H. writes to us as follows: "I have succeeded in obtaining a part of the renowned collection of Dr. Grotefend for it, consisting of such gems in the ancient Greek and Roman line, as have never before been offered for sale in this country. Among the "Colonial" the NEW YORK IN AMERICA Token will create quite a sensation, as only three specimens of it is known. The GLORIAM REGNI will be desirable, too! There will be about sixty Masonic medals, the same number of Centennial medals, and some very fine U. S. cents."

At Philadelphia, Mr. J. W. Hazeltine will hold at an early date, not yet fixed upon, another of his periodical coin sales.

We have heard of one or two other sales to take place soon, but our data is not sufficiently accurate to notice them in this number.

Mr. Ponce de Leon contemplates an early issue of part III of his catalogue. This will comprise the entire series of his Roman bronze coins.

Our next number will contain a list of all Masonic Copperheads in the cabinet of Ed. Groh, Esq.

REVIEWS, EXCHANGES, ETC.

[SILVER COINS issued in England since the Conquest with their values; to which is appended an account of the FARTHINGs of QUEEN ANNE; illustrated. By J. Henry, London, 1877.]

To American collectors of English coins, this 50 page pamphlet will prove of special benefit, for in a condensed form it describes the principal types of the silver issues, giving the average present valuation of each piece, with short historical notes on each coinage. The illustrations are sufficiently copious to assist the many collectors who have no access to the voluminous detailed works on British coinage. For sale in the U. S. by S. K. Harzfeld, 1713 Park Ave. Phila., and also at the office of Numisma. Price prepaid, 30 cents.

No. 1. Vol. VI, of the CANADIAN ANTIQUARIAN AND NUMISMATIC JOURNAL, comes to us laden with the poetical lore of the Ancien Regime, and in a most happy vein fairly revels in historical reminiscences of former days, those days rich in the dramatic and picturesque element, characteristic of Gallic rule in America, which to our northern neighbors especially will for a long time yet afford a rich and pleasurable field of research. A contribution by Dr. Robert Morris, on FRAUD IN COINS will attract the attention of numismatists generally, while an historical account of St. Paul's Lodge, F. & A. M., by Mr. Daniel Rose throws much light on the early masonic history of Canada. We feel especially gratified in placing this ably conducted journal in our exchange list, because it is the first society publication that has officially recognized "Numisma" as a co-laborer in the numismatic field. Merci bon voyageur, Dieu te prospere!

But by what slip of the pen did Dr. Robert Morris allow himself, in the above mentioned article, to call the well known forgers of antique coins who flourished at Padua and Florence in the 15th century, Paduanus and Parmesanus, is something quite beyond our comprehension! Let somebody shower upon us his heaviest blows, if the following are not correct. "In Padua were Jean Cavino and Alessandro Bassiano, two forgers, and all their productions were called Paduan. At Florence lived Michel Dervien who was surnamed le Parmesan." For further particulars see Humphrey's, page 404.

HARZFELD'S NUMISMATIC Circular No. 2, besides a large and varied list of medals and fine coins, contains an article which we must hold as conclusive in denying two statements repeatedly published on this side of the Atlantic, and generally accredited 1st, that the thaler struck at the time of the SCHUTZENFEST, at Frankfurt, in 1862, was issued in compliment to the actress Fanny Janauschek or bears her likeness, and 2d, that the profile bust on the double thalers struck in the same city in any of the years '57 '58, '60, or '61, resembles any female that bore a peculiar relationship to the banker Rothschild. The former coin is acknowledged a genuine mint issue, struck in commemoration of the Schutzenfest, and the female figure thereon represented is that of a simple German maiden, by her strongly developed charms eminently befitted to represent GERMANIA in all her glory; the latter, a regular mint issue, bears the ideal head of FRANKFURTIA; then a free city with a coinage of her own. For the sake of historical truth, the cobwebs of illusion must be brushed away, even if the tender poetical charm be dispelled, and with critics like Mr. Harzfeld lurking about, our compilers of catalogues will exercise a degree of caution which must prove beneficial to their standing as numismatic authorities, and render their work, when trenching on historical events, more authoritative.
